

CANADIAN CONCUSSION PRIORITY SETTING PARTNERSHIP: SELECTING THE TOP 10

1 IDENTIFY PRIORITY QUESTIONS ABOUT CONCUSSION

249 Canadians, including patients, caregivers, and healthcare practitioners, completed a survey asking them to identify priority areas for concussion research.

1,761
Questions submitted

2 ANALYSIS AND EVIDENCE CHECKING

1,515 Questions were within the scope of the project. The questions were grouped together into key topics, which were used to make a list of summary questions.

1,515
Questions in scope

59
Summary questions

3 INTERIM PRIORITIZATION

989 Canadians completed the second survey to help narrow the 59 summary questions into a research priorities shortlist.

17
Shortlisted questions

4 PRIORITY SETTING WORKSHOP

24 Patients and clinicians of different backgrounds, perspectives, and expertise gathered for a two-day workshop to decide by consensus the top 10 unanswered research questions.

Top 10
questions